Make a Joyful Noise unto the Lord

Over and over the psalms tell us to praise and glorify the Lord in song. What more beautiful way to do so than with a well-trained choir of dedicated people singing music that has been thoughtfully composed and carefully chosen for the occasion?

The role of the choir in parish liturgies has evolved from that of "performance" (i.e., choir sings, people listen) to one of "leading and assisting" the assembly in the greater endeavor of singing and responding together.

From time to time a choir anthem also provides the assembly an opportunity for prayerful reflection as both are united in these different ways of praising and glorifying the Lord.

The choir, then, has a multifaceted function in our liturgy. Whether leading the assembly in singing the music of the Mass (Gloria, Gospel Acclamation, Eucharistic Acclamations), setting the tone for the liturgy in a prelude, or sending worshipers on their way with a joy-filled postlude, the choir is an indispensable part of the interweaving of spoken Word, sung response, and rich symbolism that make up the liturgy.

St. Patrick's is fortunate to have two choirs of great ability and tradition:

The 9:00 Choir sings a contemporary, or folk, style of music, similar to that found in the GLORY AND PRAISE songbooks. This choir rehearses on Thursday evenings at 6:30, in the choir loft of the church.

The 10:30 Choir sings a style of music with deeper roots in tradition; for example, Gregorian

John Pescitelli, Music Director, enjoys a "half-rest" between Masses.

The world-famous all-you-can-eat pancake-and-sausage breakfast is presented this Sunday morning in St. Patrick's main hall, 8:00 to 10:30 a.m. "But we'll probably serve until 11:00," said Dave Palmisano, a member of the sponsoring Urbana Knights of Columbus.

This is a wonderful opportunity to meet new parishioners and to renew acquaintances after summer vacations. The Knights hope to break all previous records for serving—and Dave was heard to say that "all calories are removed before we serve," so . . . cast your cares aside and come along!

Cost is a modest $3.50 for adults and $2.00 for children under 12--or pay just $10.00 for the entire family.

St. Patrick's In Focus is published on the last weekend of each month in Urbana, Illinois. News items and information may be submitted for the next issueby the 15th day of the month. Written material must include the name and phone number of the writer.

Please leave news items in the Communications Committee mail bin in the parish center, or call a committee member: Bob Haessly, 344-7123; Mary Lou Menches, 344-1125 or 244-4701; Katharine Schrader, 344-5995; Merdy Smith, 367-6159; Peter Stubing, 367-5160; Cynthia Wild, 337-7521.

chant, Latin motets, and hymns found in WORSHIP. This choir rehearses on Wednesday evenings at 7:00, also in the loft.

"In order for all of us to 'sing a new song' this fall, new voices are needed for both choirs," observed John Pescitelli, St. Patrick's Music Director. "The only prerequisite for membership in either choir is that you enjoy singing. You do not need a trained voice or special musical background. You need only the desire to 'sing a new song."

For more information, call John Pescitelli (367-2665). His office hours are 3:00-5:00 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. and 10:00-noon on Wednesdays. "Or just come to a rehearsal! We begin during the first full week of September," John said. "I hope to see some new faces!"

The Women's Convoy, which brought material aid to women's community projects in Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, and Nicaragua, stopped in C-U on June 10 to pick up local donations.

St. Patrick's parishioners contributed to this project by donations specifically intended for projects in Guatemala. Religious-education classes and other parishioners generously provided $550 as well as three typewriters, two boxes of school supplies, three boxes of office supplies and a box of children's clothing.

The local church community effort resulted in $1750 and a busload of supplies that were distributed to widows, a sewing cooperative, an orphanage, a health clinic, and wives and family members of the trade and food unions in Guatemala.

Besides delivering muchneeded material goods to community-based groups in this troubled region, the convoy hopes to educate others to the current situation in Central America and to ways in which we can serve as peacemakers and healers.

Plans are underway to bring together some of the women who took part in this summer's month-long journey to report on their trip and experiences in Central America.

Children's Program Expands to Wednesday Evenings

As you may have noticed, the Children's Program at St. Patrick's has experienced a welcome increase in enrollment over the past few years. This increase has necessitated an expansion of the program to Wednesday evenings.

"We are pleased this year to offer four sessions of children's classes," announced Jan Lipska, coordinator of the Children's Program. "We will continue to offer classes for preschool through sixth grade on Sunday at 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. at St. Patrick's, Urbana, and on Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. in St. Joseph. In addition, we will offer classes for preschool through sixth grade at St. Patrick's on Wednesday at 5:45 p.m.

"With the addition of the Wednesday evening session, we will be able to accommodate a greater number of children and at the same time keep class sizes manageable."

Registration procedures have also been changed. During the week of August 14, families with children from the age of three through sixth grade received a letter explaining the new procedures and a registration form. These families were asked to indicate class time preferences and to return their registration forms to the parish office.

Families new to the parish are asked to call the parish office (367-2665) to indicate their time preferences and to begin the registration procedure.

The 9:00 a.m. Sunday classes will be filled through a lottery system. "We anticipate being able to honor at least second choices," Jan Lipska said. "All students registered for the program in St. Joseph will automatically be enrolled in that program."

All families, with the exception of those in the program at St. Joseph, will be notified by mail the week of Sept. 17 about which classes their children have been placed in as a result of the lottery system.

Questions about registration and the new Children's Program session should be directed to Jan Lipska or to Carolyn McElrath, Director of Religious Education, at the parish office (367-2665).

"We are looking forward to an exciting and busy year in these sessions," Jan concluded. An understatement, to be sure!

What Do a Tree and Ice Cream Have to Do with RENEW?

Two weeks and counting until St. Patrick's parishioners are asked to commit to the RENEW program on "Sign-Up Sunday."

That doesn't mean, however, that the various RENEW committees have been biding their time. Many people have been working behind the scenes to plan the process that formally begins on Oct. 15.

RENEW is a process that is aimed at deepening spiritual growth, that will also help us, both as individuals and as a parish, to reach out and make new friends and to build on older relationships.

On Sign-Up Sunday, Sept. 10, the Large Group Committee, headed by Pat and Paul Doebel, will hold the first parish-wide RENEW activity—a tree-planting ceremony and an ice-cream social.

Also on Sign-Up Sunday, the Small Group Committee will swing into action and begin enrolling people, individuals as well as couples, into small groups that will meet weekly during the six-week fall season (Oct. 15 to Nov. 19) of the RENEW process.

Parishioners are asked to sign up for inclusion in one of the small groups for 90-minute sessions to discuss the RENEW topics ("God loves us," "God heals us," "God calls us as a family," etc.).

You may sign up to meet with a specific group of six to 12 people, or members of the Small Group Committee will place you in a group based on any preferences you list regarding time, location, age group, and the like.

"Some people may feel more comfortable with people they know," said Connie Shaw, a member of the Small Group Committee. "Or others may feel that they are ready to meet new people in the parish."

Members of the committee will be present after each of the Masses on Sept. 9 and 10 to offer more information about the formation of the small groups, which will take place a few days after Sign-Up Sunday.

The committee already has 22 facilitators, who will serve as leaders and organizers for the weekly meetings. They will undergo training in September; anyone interested in serving as facilitator is asked to call Connie or Chuck Shaw (384-1191).

"We'd like to have 35 facilitating couples or individuals and at least 400 participants in the small groups," said Chuck. "Beyond that, our goal is to deepen people's spiritual lives and to build community."

Meanwhile, the Large Group Committee is working on plans to build community. It is inviting all parishioners to meet at 4 p.m. on Sign-Up Sunday in the area between the church and the parish center for a short ceremony. Two trees—symbol of the RENEW program—will be planted at that time. A small tree will be planted by the younger people of the parish, a larger one by the adults.

"The trees represent something we can watch growing from a physical standpoint as we watch the parish grow from a spiritual standpoint," said

Paul. "Both sites selected for the trees are truly prominent so we will be able to watch them grow."

The children's tree planting will feature remarks about trees and the significance of the RENEW tree.

Children of the parish are invited to meet in the parish center after 9 a.m. Mass on Sept. 3 to discuss and plan the children's planting ceremony.

The tree-planting ceremony for adults will include introductory remarks, a brief prayer service and blessing of the tree, and singing.

"We'll arrange for seating for the elderly and anyone else who needs it so that everyone can participate," said Paul.

Following the tree plantings, ice cream and toppings will be served outside the parish center, weather permitting. About 10 volunteers are needed to serve the ice cream and to help with the toppings. If you'd like to help, call the Doebels (367-0629).

"The ice-cream social will be purely social," said Paul. "It will be an opportunity to meet and visit in a relaxed setting."

The Large Group Committee, which has about 10 members and is looking for more help, is also planning a Thanksgiving Day observance tied in with a program on the work of our St. Vincent de Paul Society.

In the spring, the committee is planning a half-day of recollection for a Saturday morning and a trip to Blooming-ton to see the famous Passion Play at the Scottish Rite Temple.

"These plans reflect only very preliminary thinking," Paul said. "We are very open to other ideas, and we'd like to involve as many people as possible." The committee meets next on Aug. 31 at the parish center.

Meet St. Patrick's Religious Education Staff

St. Patrick's is fortunate to have all coordinators returning to lead the parish's catechetical ministry this year.

Carolyn McElrath begins her fourth year as Director of Religious Education. She and her husband, Dale, have lived in the parish since 1981.

In addition to providing overall direction for religious education here, Carolyn offers many adult-education opportunities. She participates in parish and diocesan committees and serves as lector and eucharistic minister. She has been certified in religious education by the Diocese of Peoria and has just received her second M.A., this one in religious studies at Mundelein College. Carolyn also has a B.A. in history and an M.A. in anthropology.

When asked what she was looking forward to this year, Carolyn responded, "I look forward to working with RENEW coordinator Helene Kacich and to integrating the spirit of RENEW into all the religious-education programs.

Lenore Nagele is returning for her fourth year as coordinator of the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults), a ministry that welcomes adults into the Catholic faith.

Lenore and her husband, Tom, have lived in this parish since 1956. They have six adult children and three grandchildren. Lenore completed the two-year diocesan Lay Ministry Leadership Program, specializing in family-life ministry, and has just received coordinator certification by the Diocese of Peoria.

Jan Lipska is beginning her fifth year as coordinator of our children's program and children's liturgy. She and her husband, Lloyd, are the parents of two children, aged 12 and 15.

Jan has a B.A. in secondary education from Kearney College, has just received coordinator certification from the Diocese of Peoria, and has completed 15 hours toward a M.A. in religious studies at Mundelein College.

Jan is looking forward to the new Wednesday evening classes and to working with the more than 40 dedicated catechists who will be guiding the children. "It's going to be really exciting year—a lot of new challenges!" she exclaimed. "All sorts of wonderful things can happen. It's like looking over a new horizon!"

Ruth Mytty begins her fifth year as coordinator of our parish family-life program. She and her husband, Al, are the parents of four children, aged 9 to 15.

Ruth has held several positions on diocesan and parish levels, developing and facilitating family-life programs. She has also completed the diocesan Lay Ministry Leadership Program, specializing in family-life ministry.

David Zola, returning for his third year as senior-high program coordinator, has served many years as volunteer catechist, lector, and eucharistic minister.

David has a B.A. in English from Fairfield University, an M.A. in corporate and political communication from Fairfield University, and a Ph.D. in educational psychology from Cornell University.

Memorial Day will always be special for David; on that day this year he and parishioner—catechist Susan Staatz were married.

Ken Kocher, returning for his third year as coordinator of our junior-high program, has been involved for many years in parish catechetical programs, first as participant, then as volunteer catechist. He has served as coordinator of the junior-high program four of five years since 1984. Ken is currently studying for a B.A. in history at the University of Illinois.

Mike Healey begins his second year as coordinator of our parish library program. Mike, a member of our community for nine years, is the father of Molly, 13; Joshua, 11; and Katie, 7. He has an associate degree Continued next page from Parkland College and is currently studying for a B.A. degree in elementary education at Eastern Illinois University.

Mike reports that the staff at St. Patrick's uses the library a lot. He hopes this year will see more parishioners taking advantage of the facility. "It's a dandy library!" Mike asserts. He plans to add new books and hopes RENEW participants will use the library for exploring their various topics for discussion.

These coordinators, and the great number of volunteers who assist them, give generously of their time and talents to religious education at St. Patrick's. They ask only for our prayers and support throughout the year.

The Pro-Life Committee of St. Patrick's Parish has formulated tentative plans for the upcoming year. In keeping with its objectives of education about and personal growth in understanding and appreciating the sacredness of life in all its forms, members are making arrangements for appropriate videos, a public speaker on euthanasia, and a session about fetal transplantation. Also planned is a prayer vigil.

New members are especially welcome to participate in the work of this committee. Watch the weekly parish bulletin for announcements of special events. If you are interested in participating, please leave your name and telephone number with the parish secretary (367-2665).

Writers Needed

Does writing a paragraph on a given topic remind you just a little of long-forgotten schooldays and those English Composition assignments? Does the very thought of writing for publication give you clammy hands and nervous jitters? If not (or maybe even so), In Focus needs you!

"If you can write a paragraph or two once a month or so, the Communications Committee would be happy to hear from you," said Mary Lou Menches, acting chair of the committee. "Most of us know how to write letters to our friends and our relatives, telling them about the things that are happening in our lives. Well, writing for In Focus can be a simple as that—writing to our parish friends about things happening in our lives together in our parish."

Committee members help with punctuation and spelling and even grammar as needed. "But nothing can take the place of a person's own style and wit. Readers deserve that variety!" Mary Lou said. "We are grateful to others in our parish, members of other groups and staff, who have regularly contributed articles for In Focus. But we don't like to keep going back to busy people, and we simply can't keep up with all the writing to be done, We need help."

If you can help, please call any member of the committee, Mary Lou (344-1125, 244-4701), or the parish office (367-2665).

We welcome the following newly baptized into our faith community: Eric Anthony Silva Ballinger, Jared Thomas Kimball, Deborah Elizabeth Kunkel, and Conrad Alen Ruiz.

Congratulations to the following couples married at St. Patrick's: Brian Leslie Ballinger and Andrea Colombelli Silva, Mark, Cecil Tate and Mary Loretta Thompson.

Welcome to new parishioners Rhonda Chalone, Margaret Mostek, William Stumm, and Amy Witsman.

Farewell to the following parishioners, who have moved from C-U: Elizabeth Edwards, Glenn and Mary Gassman, Craig and Aurora Happ, Tod and Cameo Kilian, Michael and Jeanne Lynett, Andrew Nelson, Charles Nicklies, Robert and Patricia Smith, Hartmut and Julia Zabel.

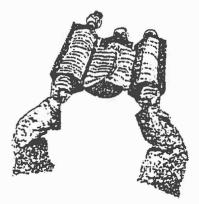

Our condolences to the families and friends of the following deceased: Dennis J. Brya, Katherine Rose Hoeffliger, Raphael "Cap" Keller, and Veronica Stall.

September Saints et Aliter

On Sept. 4, Labor Day, we celebrate the dignity and worth of human labor. Decades ago Dorothy Sayers observed that the Church's approach to laborers ought not to be confined to exhortations on how best to live their leisure hours and to come to church on Sundays, but to do well the work they set out to do. "What use is all else if in the very center of one's life and occupation the carpenter is insulting God with bad carpentry?"

On Sept. 8 we give special thanks to God for the birth of Mary, which tradition assigns to this date.

Sept. 14, the Triumph of the Cross, commemorates the dedication of the church erected by Emperor Constantine over the site of Christ's crucifixion. ("In this sign you shall conquer," Constantine is said to have heard.) On Sept. 15 we honor Mary, Our Lady of Sorrows—a reminder of the pain of the cross.

Matthew, whose feast we observe on Sept. 21, in his gospel places Jesus solidly within the traditions of God's chosen people, and from beginning to end reveals the tensions between tradition and newness.

On Sept. 27 we remember Vincent de Paul, founder of the Vincentians and the Daughters of Charity, and patron of charitable works and organizations. The St. Vincent de Paul Society continues his service to the local poor, here in Champaign-Urbana and around the world.

On Sept. 29 we rejoice in God's special messengers: Michael ("Who is like God?"), Gabriel ("God's strength"), and Raphael ("God's remedy"). Michael defends us in the battle against evil, Raphael gathers up the wounded, Gabriel announces the victory.

On the evening of Sept. 29, Rosh Ha-Shanah begins the "ten days of awe," a period of intense reflection and repentance and an anticipation of the day of judgment. To our Jewish friends: "L'Shanah tovah tikatevu!--May you be inscribed in the Book of Life for a good year!"

September ends with a remembrance of Jerome, monk and ascetic, who translated the Bible from the original Hebrew into Latin—then the "language of the people"—thereby "breaking open the Word" for generations to follow.

RCIA Inquiry Sessions Begin in October

At the heart of the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults is a basic vision of Church, a vision that we are the Body of Christ in the world.

RCIA celebrates the mystery of the death and resurrection of the Lord, the mystery of conversion to which all of us, as individuals and as a parish, are continually called. Informally, this process goes on year-round; five persons have been participating in Inquiry sessions since last Easter.

For persons entering the process this fall, sessions begin the first Wednesday of October, 7:00-9:00 p.m., in the parish center lounge. Inquiry sessions are open to anyone who wants to learn more about Catholicism.

The Inquiry period is a time for parishioners to welcome and get to know the Inquirers and for Inquirers to get to know our parish and faith, a time for us to share with them who we are as Catholic Christians and to hear their stories of faith.

If you know of anyone who may be interested in inquiring into our faith, please invite them—or better yet, accompany them—to these sessions. If you would like more information, please call the parish office (367-2665) and ask for Lenore Nagele or Carolyn McElrath.

At their August meeting Parish Council members took under advisement the future of the Social Committee, one of the nine standing committees of the Council.

Debbie Heater, chair and (for all practical purposes) sole member of the committee, spoke of the difficulties of carrying on single-handedly, even as she expressed her enthusiasm for many of the parish-wide events the committee has traditionally sponsored.

Among these are the parish picnic, the Easter egg hunt for youngsters, the "holiday coffees," the summertime ice-cream social, and many, many others.

Fr. Remm observed that the targeted amount of $25,000 for the baptistry and Marian shrine is now in hand and that the bishop has approved his resolution, signed by parish trustees Bill Subick and Cecelia Weir.

He and parishioner Nick Britsky will meet with the baptistry committee to plan next steps. Work on the project can be expected to take as long as two years to complete. Since much of it—crafting of the new artwork and painting of the Mary statue, for instance—will be done elsewhere, the church itself will not be in a state of disarray during all of that time.

Parishioners have pledged or paid a total of $60,038 in response to this year's diocesan Annual Stewardship Appeal. As has been done for the last several years, all payments made over and above the amount set for us by the diocese will be rebated to the parish and used to reduce the parish debt for the addition to our parish center.

Bill Subick noted that last year's payment against the debt was about $55,000, leaving a debt balance of approximately $139,000. Of that total, about $86,000 is owed to individual parishioners, the "Generous Hearts" whose purchase of notes from the diocese in the name of St. Patrick's helped finance the office wing of the parish center.

Bill pointed out that the sizable debt reduction was made possible by the generosity of parishioners, whose response to the "Sacrificial Giving" program initiated last fall was "simply tremendous. Amazing!" Sunday collections alone exceeded budget by nearly $47,000.

In other action Council members agreed to a proposal from the Education Committee that the Council appoint a broadly representative task force to examine the parish's facilities with regard to the variety of programs offered.

The task force's recommendations, due by February 1990, are to address the problem of appropriate space for religiouseducation needs, among others. Dave Murrell volunteered to serve as the Council's representative on this task force.

An ad hoc committee will also be established to formulate policy regarding use of parish facilities for advocacy. The Council's representative on this ad hoc committee is Bob Haessly.

Reports about committees note that Social Action plans an advertisement in the C-U News-Gazette in support of the consistent life ethic movement and is participating in the effort to relocate St. Jude Catholic Worker House.

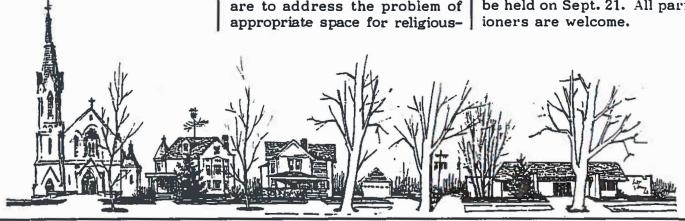

Revenue and Finance committee members have agreed to meet jointly pending direction from the Parish Council about merging the two committees.

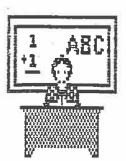

Communications is preparing a survey of parishioners' opinions about, reactions to, and ideas for improving In Focus.

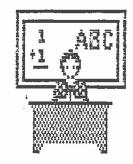

Worship and Prayer noted the need for recruitment of parishioners for liturgical ministries (lectors, eucharistic ministers, servers, cantors, choir, ushers). This committee is also looking for someone to serve as committee chair and for a coordinator of servers.

With Mikki Mannino's resignation, the Parish Council is in need of a recording secretary. Anyone interested in this service may call Council secretary Arden Howey (344-4521).

The next Council meeting will be held on Sept. 21. All parishioners are welcome.
