

ST. PATRICK'S PARISH

In Focus

Let Jubilee Begin!

With food for the body and the soul St. Patrick's ushered in the New Year, the Year of Jubilee.

With the Knights of Columbus and other members of the parish, Pulchratia Kinney coordinated a dinner for members of the community and the parish who would ordinarily stay at home on New Year's Eve. It proved to be a marvelous opportunity for the parish to initiate new connections within the C-U community as well as a time for building relationships among individuals from within and outside the parish.

Participants' comments indicated that a jolly good time was had by all, and those who prepared and served the meal spoke enthusiastically about the fun and spiritual reward they themselves experienced. The accompanying photos confirm the enjoyment that pervaded the evening.

Later in the evening, at 11:00 p.m., the community gathered to pray and prepare for the new millennium. After prayers of forgiveness and thanksgiving, the community prayed in silence. At midnight the Year of Jubilee was proclaimed to the sound of a melange of bells. After making a commitment to one of the themes of

Dialogue into the Millennium

Fr. Eugene LaVerdiere to speak on the Gospel of Mark

The next speaker in the "Dialogue into the Millennium" lecture series is Fr. Eugene A. LaVerdiere, who will present "The Beginning of the Gospel: The Gospel of Mark for the New Millennium" on Feb. 21. Fr. LaVerdiere holds a doctorate in New Testament and Early Christian Literature and has recently completed a two-volume work on the Gospel of Mark, published by The Liturgical Press.

A prolific writer, Fr. LaVerdiere is the author of several other books as well. Among them are Dining in the Kingdom of God: The Origins of the Eucharist According to Luke (1994), The Eucharist in the New Testament and the Early Church (1996), and The Breaking of the Bread: The Development of the Eucharist According to Acts (1998).

A member of the Congregation of the Blessed Sacrament, LaVerdiere is the senior editor of Emmanuel, a magazine that focuses on Eucharistic spirituality. He is also an adjunct professor of New Testament Studies at Catholic Theological Union and a distinguished lecturer at Fordham University. Since 1985 he has been a consultant for mission education of clergy and seminarians for the national office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

The challenge of responding to his lecture will be met by Rev. William Salzmann, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church and instructor in courses on the New Testament at Parkland College, and William Schoedel, University of Illinois Professor Emeritus in Religious Studies. Rev. Ann Burger will serve as facilitator for the evening, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

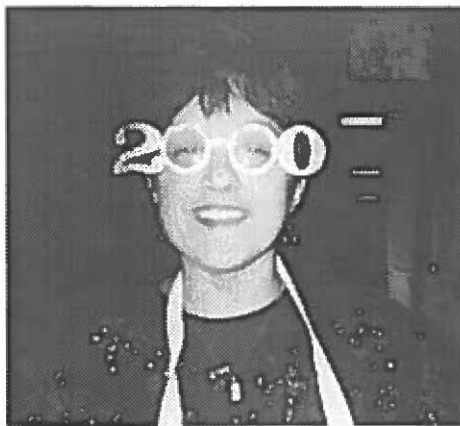

Afterward all are invited to stay for conversation and refreshments. There is no admission fee for the lecture series.

Jubilee, participants expressed their ecumenicity with song and the formation of a circle around the church.

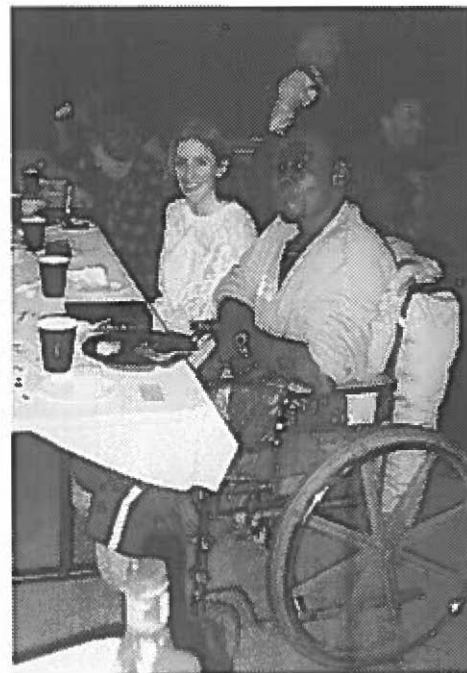

A committee consisting of representatives from the Parish Council, the Liturgy Committee, and the Evangelization Team from St. Patrick's, the Methodist Church of Urbana, and the Community Church of Christ planned the prayer vigil.

A letter to the committee from a member of the Methodist Church sums up the event: "Thank you for all the thought, planning, and effort put into the successful New Year's Eve Vigil. I've been told many positive things about the good experience people had as a result of attending and participating. This is definitely an idea we should continue as a service to the community."

Both "happenings," the dinner and the vigil service, were fitting events to introduce this Year of the Lord, which calls us to connectedness, forgiveness, liberation, creative imagination, and Sabbath.

Let's hope that this is just a beginning, the first of many good works and Jubilee initiatives for St. Patrick's during the year 2000!

Welcome to new parishioners Michael Berns, Russ and Nancy Dietrich-Rybicki, Angela Jessee, Vincent Pagan, Todd and Wendy Wagner.

Farewell to Colin Kremitzki, who has moved from C-U.

We welcome the following recently baptized into our faith community: Maxwell Augustine Bradley, Adam Jessee, April Jessee, Eleanor Marie D'Andria, Nathan Patrick Schuele.

Please pray for deceased parishioners Catherine Carter and Isophenia Gleason.

Tickets are $12.50 for the ribeye dinner, $10 for the chicken dinner.

The evening also will include prizes and entertainment—some of which (it was observed) might be good!

Doors will open at 6 p.m., serving begins at 7 p.m., and the evening will be complete by 10 p.m. Don't delay in obtaining your tickets. There will be just 200 seats available, and they'll go fast!

HELP WANTED!

The Communications Committee needs volunteers to page In Focus. If you can use paging software (PageMaker or QuarkXpress) and can spare a few hours 3-4 times a year, call Mary Lee Brady (344-3752) or Mary Lou Menches (344-1125).

North Pole Expo a smashing success

"Stupendous! Best ever!" said Leslie Risatti, president of St. Patrick's Guild, when asked about the North Pole Expedition. The event, sponsored by the Guild, was held last Dec. 12. Over $4100 was raised and will be used to help defray the cost of renovating the parish center lounge.

Countless parishioners contributed bakery and many unusual items for the auction, helping to make the event such a success. Sophia Ziegler chaired the ornament table. Sophia, Lori McDonough, Anne Britsky, and Rose Brown worked together throughout the year to create the lovely ornaments. Marguerite Maguire and Lauren Bonse organized the sweets table. Leslie Risatti and Ceil Weir chaired the auction. Steve Beckett and John Gremer served as auctioneers, assisted by Tom Kacich and Glenn Mueller.

The Parish Council has organized a committee to finalize plans for the renovation of the lounge, which will be done this summer. They will be selecting carpeting, furniture, and vertical blinds for the windows. The door to the lounge closet will be moved to allow more convenient access to that storage space, and additional storage will be provided in cabi-

Many thanks to all the contributors and participants at the North Pole Expedition. We will all enjoy the renovated lounge for years to come!

Q: Why do we have the blessing of throats? Why on Feb. 3?

A: On Feb. 3 the Church celebrates the memory of Blase, bishop of Sebaste in Armenia. Blase is said to have been a physician as well as a bishop. According to legend, Blase saved the life of a boy who was choking on a fish bone. Blase is now the patron saint of all who have diseases of the throat.

On his feast day, Feb. 3, in many parishes of the U.S. people have their throats blessed. It's not by chance that this custom coincides with the peak of the sore throat and flu season. Years ago, wintertime illnesses were very dangerous. Before the discovery of penicillin, a person could die from complications of a sore throat.

The tradition of blessing throats began at a time when the Church's calendar was filled with blessings for the saints' days. Many of these blessings are no longer practiced, but somehow the custom of blessing throats survived. Two candles, tied in the shape of a cross, are touched to our necks as the following prayer is spoken: "Through the intercession of St. Blase, bishop and martyr, may God deliver you from ailments of the throat and from every other evil. In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."

We can think of the blessing of our throats as a sign of God's care for every part of us.

Questions about Catholic practice or Catholic teaching may be sent to the Communications Committee in care of the parish office.

in our parish library

Fr. Eugene LaVerdiere, featured speaker for the February "Dialogue into the Millennium" lecture series, holds a doctorate in New Testament and Early Christian Literature. If you would like to know more about him and his themes, the parish library offers the following books. (Numbers in parentheses are the call numbers by which books are organized on the library shelves.)

The New Testament in the Life of the Church (225 Lav) Fr. LaVerdiere interprets the New Testament for communication and applies the interpretation to evangelization, catechesis, homiletics, and prayer. He shows how the New Testament is the book for the pastoral life of the Church. His work inspires readers to share the Good News!

Luke (225 Lav) This book offers an interpretation of the story of Jesus in the gospel of Luke, section by section, and provides background on the writer, historical events, and the audience for whom it was written. It is an excellent accompaniment for Bible study.

Dining in the Kingdom of God (265 Lav) This book is about the origins of the Eucharist according to Luke. It is about making connections between the Eucharist, the Gospel, and the worshiping assembly.

Fr. LaVerdiere's latest books, The Beginning of the Gospel: Introducing the Gospel According to Mark (Vols. 1 and 2), are on order for our parish library. Look for them soon on the New Books shelf.

If you have trouble locating books or other materials in the library, or want to know whether the library has a book about something of interest to you, please call Frances Drone-Silvers (398-1458), parish library coordinator. She will be pleased to help.

You missed the CREW Cookbook at Christmastime, you say? You wish you could get one now? You're in luck!

Copies are still available for $10; stop by the parish office purchase helps our teens raise funds for their trip to Washington, D.C., next summer to assist Habitat for Humanity with the building of 55 townhouses for the needy.

Watch for other fund raisers if cooking isn't your "thing"—an auction is one event coming up in the near future!

CREW Cookbooks go on sale at Coffee Shop in time for Christmas giving.

WATCH Weekend Retreat, Feb. 25-27

You are invited to participate in the second WATCH weekend retreat, Feb. 25-27. WATCH (We Are The Church) is a parish renewal program that provides an opportunity for anyone to deepen his or her relationship with God and others and to meet fellow Christians—a wonderful way to begin the Jubilee Year 2000!

The WATCH weekend is for everyone, men and women, family, friends, neighbors, coworkers, members of this parish or not, Catholic or not. Meals, fellowship, fun await all who come.

Activities and talks focus on the sacraments and on our relationship with God and others in the Body of Christ that is the Church.

The weekend retreat, held in St. Patrick's parish center, begins on Friday evening and continues through Sunday afternoon. No cots, sleeping bags, air mattresses—you sleep in your own bed each night!

You can pick up a brochure from the parish office, or call Mary Long (367-2665) for information or to register. If you can't plan to participate in the February retreat, look for announcements of subsequent WATCH retreats. They will be offered twice a year for the next few years so you will have other opportunities to participate in this parish renewal program.

Today I saw God

Today I learned an important lesson. I went Christmas caroling at the county hospital, which is known for all the homeless and poor that go there, and I ended up being Santa's helper, helping Santa give out gifts to the patients in each room.

When I went into the rooms and saw so many sick and dying, most of them homeless, I wanted to run away at first. Run back home to my house and family and forget everything I saw. I didn't, though.

We went into the room of one homeless lady, who had nothing to call her own. No family, no house, nothing. She was sitting by the window reading a worn-out Bible. It was then that I saw God. I saw him in this woman. I almost cried at the sight of her smile. I wanted to reach out and hug her and tell her I'm sorry for ignoring all those who truly needed my help.

I learned today why God has called me to be a priest. To serve those who have nothing except him.

I'm sorry for the long note. I've read so many times here about how other people see God, and I just had to tell about what happened today.

Paul M.

When we share our faith stories, we are changed, and those we share them with are changed as well. Do you have a story to share? Send it to the Communications Committee, c/o St. Patrick's, or drop it off at the parish office. Be sure to include your name and telephone number, although names will be withheld on request.

Focus on ministry

Liturgy Committee

In all its work the Liturgy Committee seeks to foster parish liturgies that are both beautiful and consistent with our faith tradition. Their primary focus is on the shape we give to the praise, the thanksgiving, the intercession of our prayer as a community of faith.

Many people serve the parish as lectors, sacristan, artists, eucharistic ministers, servers, ushers, musicians. The Liturgy Committee supports these ministries by recruiting, scheduling, and training these generous volunteers and by providing opportunities for them to continue to develop their skills and grow in a spirit of service.

Time commitment involves participation in the committee's meetings (third Tuesdays, 7-8:30 p.m.) and in the work of the committee: studying, evaluating, recommending, planning, recruiting, etc.

Requirements? An interest in liturgy and a desire to serve, to grow in faith and in prayer, to foster the prayerful worship of our faith community.

Chair: Richard Tavis, 344-1729

Christmas greetings from Susan Nagele

Allah karim. God is good. At the moment most of our troubles in Lotimor have been resolved. On Oct. 31 the local authorities wrote a letter permitting our health team to return to the parish. Flora had already resigned by then, but the Maryknoll Sisters are coming!

Srs. Marilyn Norris and Joan Sauvigne are nurses, Sister Mary

Ellen Manz a teacher. They are currently studying the language with Sr. Frances in northern Kenya, where I studied two years ago. Fr. Sean Cremin has come to be with Fr. Tim in Lotimor.

When the builders finish the primary school in Lotimor, they will start building housing for the Maryknoll Sisters and me in Nanyangacor. We hope that we can move there in January. I will be more centrally located there in the parish and better able to support the sisters' work at the health unit in Nanyangacor and to travel to Lotimor and other places for supervisory visits monthly.

I hope to find a sister to supervise the health unit in Lotimor and to be some company for Sr. Frances. Marty is studying the language in Uganda and will join us in February, either in Lotimor or Nanyangacor. I am very happy!

Thank you all for your prayers during this difficult time. Thanks to Maryknoll and the Kiltegan Fathers for being such wonderful support. Thanks to God for sending us the Son to bring us light, hope, and a message of peace for all of good will. May you have a very happy holiday season and many blessings and much peace throughout the New Year!

*Messengers of God
from whom I learn are found in common places—*

*The widow who sits behind me
each week in church, and the woman who wanders
our streets alone.*

The retired neighbor who smilingly gives his time packing boxes at the food bank, and the families who need and receive that sustenance.

My son, who composes songs of faith and gives music to my poem, and those whose songs are not of life or who, imprisoned, cannot sing at all.

*The newest baby in our congregation, awaited, greeted, at home in many arms,
and the children who have no waiting

no welcoming homes.*

*All around me I hear life stories, and each, in its common place,

is a message from God.*

Greetings from our "sister parish"

Rev. George Remm and dear

During Christmas Midnight

We can pray for your intentions, but we can't help persons confined in bed and in urgent need of support without your aid.

Merry Christmas and happy

The CREW Review

For CREW's Christmas event about 30 of us decorated the Catholic Worker House.

Decorating began immediately.
Some decorated the tree. Others hung tinsel and tree ornaments above the windows. The pillars in the living room were wrapped with tinsel like candy canes. There was also a uniquely lighted wreath displayed on the clothes rack.
Many worked to add a bit of their holiday tradition to the room.

One of the homeless families had small children with them.
CREW members played, carried, talked to, and entertained them. I found it remarkable how different they looked in connection with these children.

The most interesting part came last. John and Linda and Cindy, from the music group, had also come. After the homeless people had eaten their dinner, it was announced that we would now sing for them. We became a little

Our Lady of Lourdes Feast named World Day of the Sick

In May 1992 Pope John Paul II designated Feb. 11, the feast of Our Lady of Lourdes, as the World Day of the Sick, "a special time of prayer and sharing, of offering one's suffering for the good of the Church, and of reminding us to see in our sick brothers and sisters the face of Christ, who by suffering, dying, and rising, achieved the salvation of humankind." (Letter Instituting the World Day of the Sick, 3)

nervous but had little time to worry because they just began singing familiar Christmas songs.
One by one everyone joined in, so no one felt awkward any longer.
Many people smiled to their friends but continued to sing. We sang the "Twelve Days of Christmas," and some even began to create gestures for the items mentioned in the song. The homeless families really enjoyed the singing and even sang along.

In the end, I think everyone felt glad that they had come. It might sound odd, but I thought that the singing had brought everyone together. It was definitely a time when the CREW's strength showed. I hope this will also be the case with our larger mission during the summer!

St. Bridget was beautiful, holy, beloved

"Acushla machree" means "pulse of my heart," one of the 32 ways to say "my dear" in Gaelic. The love of language was already well developed in late fifth century Ireland, when the child Bridget was sent to the home of a druid to learn her letters.

But it was for charity as well as for learning that she became renowned second only to St. Patrick among Irish saints. Once she gave a begging leper her father's sword. In tears at his rage, she explained that it was because it was his very best sword that she gave it to God.

In due time her father chose a husband worthy of her beauty, but Bridget chose religious life instead. She and 7 other girls, dressed in the white homespun wool worn by Irish nuns for many centuries afterward, made their vows to the bishop. Thus was established the first community of nuns in Ireland. Their convent at Kildare grew to become a great monastic center.

Bridget traveled, organizing convents, obtaining freedom for captives, and counseling the great. Her charity continued; rich vestments inherited by the nuns at Kildare were given to a poor church, a dinner planned for visiting prelates went to nourish beggars. No one minded, for "bread and bacon in Bridget's company were better than a banquet elsewhere."

Irish missionaries carried Bridget's name and devotion throughout Europe and beyond. A Bride's Peak in the Himalayas bears a form of her name, as does an island off the Japanese coast.

In England, writers gathered at St. Bride's Church in Fleet Street (London), called "the focal point of print." At Southern Illinois University the communications building has a broken angel from a destroyed St. Bride's in Fleet Street. Legend has it that the knights of chivalry called the girls they married their "brides" in her honor—and that is how this word came into usage today.

Bridget, also called Bride and Brigid, is remembered especially on Feb. 1 as a model for women of every age.
